Cardiff, July 1996 Wolfgang Nahrstedt

Internationaler Freizeitwissenschaftlicher Studiengang
WICE

Der von der World Leisure Recreation Association (WLRA) in Holland seit drei Jahren angebotene internationale freizeitwissenschaftliche Studiengang WICE verändert sein Gesicht: Die ersten drei Jahre wurde der zweijährige Studiengang an der Christelijke Hogeschool Noord-Nederland in Leeuwarden durchgeführt, ab 1. September 1996 wird er als neuer Master Studiengang an der Agricultural University Wageningen angeboten und schließt mit einem Universitätsgrad ab (Master of Science). Damit wird die ohnehin schon hohe Attraktivität des Studienganges weiter erhöht und ist damit auch für europäische Studenten und Studentinnen interessant. Informationsbroschüren sind bei Prof. Dr. Walter Tokarski, Deutsche Sporthochschule Köln, Institut für Freizeitwissenschaft, Carl-Diem-Weg 6, D-50933 Köln, Tel.: 0221/4982-241, Fax: 0221/4995 58 31, erhältlich.

Call for papers

The Conference will disseminate the theme Leisure and Tourism as a Challenge for the Reconstruction and Modernization of European Communities. The assumption is that all European communities and cities are undergoing dynamic change, resulting in increased growth of leisure and tourism services. This is readily evident in East European and Mediterranean countries. Post war regions have to meet the double problem of reconstruction and modernization. They have to rebuild the destroyed (inner) cities and also have to modernize in a future European way.

Practical examples and theoretical models, which further this discussion, will be especially welcomed.

Papers with title and abstract (100 words) should be sent to:
